Emergency Management:

Risks

- a) Numerous incidents may occur, both on the ground and in the air. Whilst unlikely, the highest consequence of these may result in death or serious injury. All AAC members attending must remain vigilant and be proactive to reduce opportunities for accidents. The most serious occurrence would be an aircraft crash, for which the following provides guidance.
- b) In the case of a serious accident or incident requiring outside assistance, the radio operator is to contact civil emergency services using '000'. They shall also provide communication support to the response team and others using the available communication networks (mobile phone, UHF).
- c) The vehicle driver shall ferry the first responders and any additional manpower to the incident location. The response team shall attempt to rescue any injured from immediate danger and contain the spread of fire, or similarly reduce the risk of further injury or damage to people or property, respectively.
- d) Once the situation has stabilised, further decisions can be made by the Contest Director (CD) and his team as to the best course of action until Emergency Services arrive.
- e) The First Responders SHOULD NOT put themselves or any others in unacceptable danger and should only assist to the degree in which they feel capable. Primary rescue and medical responsibility rests with the local emergency services.

Emergency Service Contacts

Triple Zero ("000") is the primary emergency services contact number. If required to call '000' be prepared with the street address and nearest cross street, as well as your contact number.

Narromine Aerodrome address: Tom Perry Drive (off Mitchell Hwy), Narromine, NSW.

Incidents

- a) Report all incidents or potentially dangerous events to an AAC Contest Official immediately, who will report it to the CD for action in accordance with the AAC Serious Incident Response Procedures (Appendix 1-12 of AAC Regulations).
- b) It is the responsibility of all attendees to be vigilant and proactive in preventing dangerous events occurring. The officials will debrief at the conclusion of the event to assist in future planning.

Emergency Response Kit and First Aid

- a) An Emergency Response Kit will be carried in the Chief Judge (CJ) vehicle airside during competition flights. It shall contain a crash axe, fire extinguishers, bolt cutters and gloves.
- b) A First Aid kit will be kept at the Aero Club with the scorer and in the Chief Judge's vehicle.
